

A celebration of exploration caving

August 2000. From the very first night of the first Spéléovision, we knew we'd succeeded at reviving the Vercors as the center of the caving universe, if only for one week.

What words could express our joy at seeing the festival hall filled to capacity on Awards Night? Just that afternoon we'd taken down the stands to make room for all 700 attendees – an attendance that had surpassed our greatest expectations.

An impeccable dinner, lively entertainment, delightful surprises everywhere, laughter, excitement and inspiring guests... What a party! So we'll have to do it again... Each two years...

> The world's best caving films in competition at Spéléovision

We welcome documentaries, fiction and short promotional pieces, reports, television programs and all films about caving (or canyoning). For registration and payment, visit our site : <http://www.speleovision.com>. Pre-registration deadline : June 15, 2002.

An international jury will award cash prizes to the best films. A children's jury, organized by l'Hebdo des Juniors (Children's Weekly magazine), will also award prize.

> Thursday, August 22 : a special evening devoted to Papua New Guinea

Opening night will start us again on our epic adventure, with a retrospective look at the best films about Papua New Guinea. Members of previous expeditions to New Britain will present their discoveries in the Exploration Forum. All cavers who have participated in expeditions to Papua New Guinea are invited to share the stage for a super photo!

> The Art and Essay Room : a corner for the curious...

Adjacent to the main meeting hall, films will be shown to the public on demand, including old films, out-of-competition films, as well as your own amateur works.

> The Exploration Forum, or the "Great Caving Adventure"

Every year, cavers discover and map new caves, contributing to a better understanding of our planet. They will talk about their adventures on stage and present images from their latest and greatest "missions".

> Gala Award Night : And more surprises to come!

The culminating moment of the competition, Saturday evening promises to be eventful, with awards, new films, a live performance and more surprise guests... all accompanied by an excellent dinner. At midnight, we'll take down the tables and dance the night away...

> The Speleo Market for caving and canyoning...

Expé, Petzl, Spelunca Library, clubs and publishers will be there to provide a lively caver's market.
